DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(e) the invention was described in-

(1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effect under this subsection of a national application published under section 122(b) only if the international application designating the United States was published under Article 21(2)(a) of such treaty in the English language; or

(2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that a patent shall not be deemed filed in the United States for the purposes of this subsection based on the filing of an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a).

Claims 1-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Kobayashi et al (US 2002/0105787).

Kobayashi et al (US 2002/0105787) disclose a box shape case (111), a bottom cover (131), a circuit board (113), side strays (133), a bent portion (135), a first rib (136), a second rib (137).

Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Kobayashi et al (US-6407925).

Art Unit: 2831

Kobayashi et al (US 6407925) disclose a box shape case (8), a bottom cover (5), a circuit board (2), side strays (59), a bent portion (64)

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 12 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kobayashi et al (US 2002/0105787) in view of applicant's admitted prior art applicant's admitted prior art teaches the use of a conveyer having a conveyer passage.

The teaching of Kobayashi et al as discussed above does not disclose a conveyer having a conveyer passage.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use the conveyer with the control unit of Kobayashi et al for the purpose of mass production.
